

"Republican Herald" Jan 27, 1813.
"On the 16th inst. at Rome, in his way home from Sackett's Harbour, Edward Howard Tillotson, a midshipman in the Navy, the youngest son of Thomas Tillotson Esq of Rhinebeck"

This seems to be the sum of the information on the Tillotsons.

1811

Nelson Coon.
Rec'd. Apr. 1931.

EDWARD HOWARD TILLOTSON:

Died: On the 6th of Jan. inst. at Rome, on his way home from Sachett's Harbor, which place he left on account of indisposition, Edward Howard Tillotson, a midship man in the navy, the younger son of Thomas Tillotson, esq. of Rhinebeck, Dutchesss county. This amiable youth had not yet attained the age of man hood, but the blossom, in its unfoldings, promised the fairest fruit; mild, brave, honorable and virtuous, he was the joy of his family, who fondly anticipated his future usefulness; but he was gone! - and may his mourning friends learn to submit to the will of Providence, who, we humbly hope, removed this lovely flower to his own blessed garden, there to bloom forever. - ( Utica Paper) - The Columbia, N. Y.
Jan. 28, 1813.

1811 E. H. TILLOTSON

Midshipman, Sept. 1, 1811. Last appearance on Records of Navy Department, Dec. 16, 1812. Dead. p. 714.

General Register of the United States Navy and Marine Corps-- 1712-1882.

Thomas H. S. Hamersly
Washington, 1882.

CLASS OF 1811.

EDWARD HOWARD TILLOTSON.

Son of Thomas and Margaret (Livingston) Tillotson, of Rhinebeck, New York.

On the 6th inst at Rome on his way home from Sackett's Harbor, Edward Howard Tillotson, midshipman in the Navy, youngest son of Thomas Tillotson, of Rhinebeck, Dutchess Co., N. Y.--Albany Gazette, Jan.
11, 1813. (Utica Patriot)

DIED: At Rome, Oneida Co., on the 6th inst, Mr.
Edward H. Tillotson, midshipman in the U. S. Navy, late a student in Union College.---The Cabinet,
Schenectady, Jan. 20, 1813.

Entered the Navy as a midshipman and was killed in the Battle of Lake Erie in the War of 1812.-- History of Rhinebeck. Smith. p. 67.

Edward Howard Tillotson 1811

Edward Howard Tillotson<sup>1811</sup>